The Honorable Leonard Lance
District Office

Westfield, NJ 07090

Dear Representative Lance:

As a twenty eight year career employee with the United States Postal Service, I am seeking your guidance for a career shift. Due to a continuing lack of upward mobility within my organization, I am looking to segue to another federal agency where I can better utilize my education and experience.

My enclosed resume outlines my credentials, including a B.A from Seton Hall University and a M.A.S. from Fairleigh Dickenson University. Last summer, I completed the Qualified Purchasing Agent (Q.P.A.) program at Rutgers University which culminated in my passing the exam in June of 2012. I am also awaiting the receipt of my Registered Public Purchasing Official (R.P.P.O) from Rutgers.

I choose the Q.P.A. program due to an appeal from the United States government looking to not only increase the civilian acquisition workforce, but also, to improve acquisition outcomes. The 2010 through 2014 Office of Management Budget strategic plan outlines this in its objective.

As I endeavor making this transition to another federal agency, I am experiencing what appears to me, the same non-responsive approach as exemplified in the USPS. My frustration is with the lack of attention to my applications. For example, I have been on the qualifying register with G.S.A. for approximately three years, since submitting my resume through USAJobs.gov. As a matter of fact, I am currently waiting on a G.S.A. opportunity in Newark, NJ. Unfortunately, during this entire timeframe, there have not been any responses. This seems unusual to me, since I have considered several lucrative offers in the private sector; however, I prefer to remain within the Federal Government.

Representative Lance, I have had a very successful career within the U.S.P.S. In spite of my intensive work experience and academic accomplishments, I have "hit the wall" in the U.S.P.S., due to, what I believe, is a poorly designed hierarchy. I am very interested in bringing my expertise, knowledge, and experience to another federal agency, and am asking for any suggestions or guidance on how to successfully transition.

Thank you for your time in reading my correspondence. I am not seeking favorable treatment from your office, however if there are any suggestions you can offer that would allow my resume to actually be reviewed by someone, I would be sincerely grateful.

Sincerely,

(b) (6)

The Honorable Leonard Lance

Attn: Mr. Glenn Mortimer

Westfield, NJ 07090

Dear Representative Lance:

Thank you for the email from your office dated January 6, 2016, on behalf of Somerset County, New Jersey, regarding the U.S. General Services Administration's (GSA) plans for Block 142 Lot 23 in Hillsborough Township, New Jersey.

The GSA-owned site within part of Block 142 Lot 23 is located at 152 U.S. Route 206, Hillsborough, Somerset County, New Jersey 08844, and is named the Somerville Depot. The facility was formerly used by the U.S. Department of Defense - Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) as a Defense National Stockpile Center to store strategic and critical materials for national defense.

An important factor in determining the strategy for this property is the outcome of DLA's investigation into environmental remediation requirements and DLA's subsequent decision on how to best address any findings.

To that end, DLA will continue with its remedial investigation of the property, with a goal to complete the effort by May 2016. Presently, DLA's findings have determined the contamination levels to be moderately low. Once DLA's remedial investigation and a feasibility study are complete, DLA will submit a Remedial Action Workplan to the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection. Additional information will be available at that time.

GSA has corresponded regularly with local stakeholders, including Somerset County Administrator and Clerk Michael Amorosa. GSA will keep all appropriate project contacts informed as progress is made.

If you have any additional questions or concerns, please contact me at (202) 501-0563.

Sincerely,

Brenda,

Thank you very much for taking my call.

A representative from Somerset County NJ came to our office asking if we could be of assistance in procuring some information. They would like to know what(if any) plans the GSA has for Block 142 Lot 23 in Hillsborough Township,NJ. The land contains storage facilities that were once used for housing mercury. The mercury has been moved to Nevada.

This would include but would not be limited to sale, GSA use, other federal government uses, and donation to an organization or local governing entity.

Thank you very much for all of your assistance.

The Honorable Leonard Lance
Attn: Mr. Ryan McDevitt

Dear Representative Lance:

Thank you for the e-mails from your office dated June 8 and 13, 2016, regarding a fire in a U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) facility, asking why sovereign immunity protects commercial entities leasing space from the Federal Government from complying with local regulations, and if the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) has looked into the costs of making the Federal Government comply with local regulations. GSA cannot comment specifically on the VA facility, since it is not a part of our inventory, but GSA can answer the more general questions on sovereign immunity.

GSA's Public Buildings Service (PBS) has not studied the costs associated with making every Federal agency comply with State and/or local regulations. To conduct such a study would be an immense undertaking: the study would need to review the codes of thousands of State and local jurisdictions throughout the United States and its territories and determine the specific amendments that each State and local jurisdiction has made to the national model building and other applicable codes. Moreover, such a study would only apply to the 1,500 buildings under GSA's control and custody.

The Public Buildings Amendments of 1988, 40 U.S.C. 3312, require that each building constructed or altered by GSA or any other Federal agency must, to the maximum extent feasible, comply with one of the nationally recognized model building codes and with other applicable nationally recognized codes. The technical requirements of these codes and standards are supplemented by mandates of Federal laws and Executive Orders, as well as GSA and other Federal agency criteria. The latest edition of these codes and standards, in effect at the time of design contract award, are used throughout the design and construction for each project. Following national model building codes provides consistency and clear compliance standards across GSA's entire inventory of buildings for Federal and any other tenants.

GSA's policy is to provide the appropriate State and/or local government officials the opportunity to review GSA projects. These reviews include, but are not limited to, the review of drawings and specifications, making recommendations for compliance with local regulations, and alignment with first-responder requirements. While GSA has the final authority to accept or reject recommendations from State or local officials, GSA carefully considers each recommendation based on adequacy, cost, and nationally accepted practice.

GSA examines the feasibility and cost of upgrading code compliance during renovation and alteration projects in existing buildings. However, as such projects typically address portions of buildings, integration with existing systems or upgrading the entire building is often beyond the financial means available. While GSA appreciates the special purpose funding provided by Congress in recent years for fire and life safety upgrades, needs continue to significantly outweigh available funding. Accordingly, GSA applies both special purpose, and the limited additional funding available from the Federal Building Fund after meeting operational requirements, on the basis of portfolio-wide risk assessment.

If you have any additional questions or concerns, please contact me at (202) 501-0563.

Exec Sec,

Please create a control for the below email. Control to PBS for Lisa Austin's signature.

I've cut and pasted the text from both emails below.

Hillsborough, NJ in Rep. Lance's district recently had a large fire at complex owned by the VA. The VA leases it out for commercial use, but since it is owned by the VA it does not have to comply with local fire codes. The fire was much bigger because its sprinkler system is very outdated.

Local officials and state legislators are asking us why sovereign immunity protects commercial entities from complying with local regulations. I wanted to check to see if GSA has ever looked into costs etc. of making fed. Government comply with local regulations.

A state legislator as well as a few local officials are arguing that whenever federally owned property is leased to commercial enterprises that they should be forced to then comply with local regulations, fire codes etc.

We were wondering if GSA has ever looked into this issue or the costs of making situations like this compliant with the local regulations.

The Honorable Leonard Lance

Attn: Mr. Glenn Mortimer

Westfield, NJ 07090

Dear Representative Lance:

This is in response to your inquiry dated November 17, 2014, on behalf of your constituent, (b) (6) concerning a U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) vehicle accident and his debt to the Federal Government.

On April 4, 2014, (b) (6) was involved in a vehicle accident with another party who was driving a U.S. Government vehicle with tag number G11-0935L. As per GSA's normal procedures, the GSA Accident Management Center reviewed and processed this vehicle accident case. After reviewing the documentation related to (b) (6) case including the New Jersey Police Crash Investigation Report and photo evidence of the damaged vehicles, GSA determined that (b) (6) was financially responsible for reimbursing GSA for damages. As a result of this finding, the accident-related claim was referred to GSA's Office of the Chief Financial Officer, for collection.

(b) (6) and his insurance company are claiming that the driver of the Government vehicle merged into his lane and, therefore, caused the accident. However, based on GSA's research, the privately owned vehicle driven by (b) (6) had the responsibility to yield and properly merge. This is supported by photo evidence of the traffic control sign. The damage and the police report suggest that the Government-owned vehicle was in front of (b) (6). As such, (b) (6) failure to yield in a traffic exchange that requires the vehicles to merge was the cause of the accident.

On May 20, 2014, GSA issued a demand letter including a Debtors Rights Statement indicating that (b) (6) owed $4,291.98. GSA issued a final notice on July 24, 2014, for payment of $4,309.44 which included penalty, interest, and administrative fees.

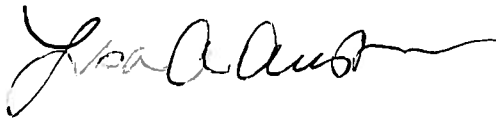

In accordance with the Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996, before debts become 180 days old, they are to be transferred to the U.S. Department of the Treasury (the Treasury) for collection through their Cross Servicing Program. Therefore, on September 25, 2014, GSA transferred (b) (6) debt to the Treasury.

The debt amount transferred included the original balance of $4,291.98, $14.63 interest (rate 1 percent), $67.94 penalty (rate 6 percent), and $30.00 administrative fee-for a total of $4,404.55. The collection agency working for the Treasury added its fees and the additional penalty and interest, bringing the total amount due as of November 4, 2014, to $5,678.91.

(b) (6) may dispute financial responsibility for this incident by filing a formal dispute request with the Treasury's Debt Management Service Center. He can contact the Center at (888) 826-3127 or at Dispute.Responses@fms.treas.gov.

If you have any additional questions or concerns, please contact me at (202) 501-0563.

Re: US General Services Administration
Harassment (b) (6)

Dear Congressman Lance;

Let me first introduce myself to you; I (b) (6) live at the above address in Summit, N.J. And I maintain an office for the practice of law in Westfield, N.J.

The purpose of my writing to you is to expose the unconscionable conduct of the GSA in its unilaterally declaring that I owe them $4,309.44. The declaration by them (GSA) stems from an incident that took place in or around the beginning of April 2014 wherein a US government vehicle collided with my vehicle on Summit Road in Mountainside, NJ. The Mountainside NJ police were called to the scene (fortunately there were no personal injuries) and the police officer observe red the damage, interviewed myself and the driver of the government vehicle and subsequently issued a written report of the incident. The police report did not indicate that either party was at fault, certainly not me. I reported the incident to my automobile insurance carrier and provided them with a copy of the police report. They, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, ..denied any claim by the GSA of my being liable for the damage to their vehicle. As there was no damage to my vehicle no claim was filed.

Subsequently, I started to receive written notices from the GSA to my home address stating that I owed them $4,309.44 And that if it was not paid forthwith, I would be subject to interest, penalties and additional fees. I responded to there letters wherein I advised them that I was not liable to them. Nonetheless, they have continued to write to me demanding payment. Now I receive daily telephone calls at home from an organization CBE group (a debt collecting company to whom the (GSA) has forwarded the alleged claim to for collection. The alleged debt is now stated to be $ 5,678.91.

I simply cannot believe that any entity, much less the Federal Government, can act with such impunity towards an individual when they knowingly have no case against them. In the instant matter they are free to bring suite against me in the Courts of the State of New Jersey for their alleged claim. This they have not done and appear not to intend to do other than to continue to harass me. They must be made to stop this conduct and a complete and through investigation performed As I doubt that I am the only person being subjected to this conduct by the GSA or other agencies of the Federal Government

Respectfully submitted

As you requested I am sending this email to you in order to inform you of the outcome of the claim made against your policy as a result of the 4/9/2014 accident on Summit Rd. in Mountainside, NJ.

I have concluded that you are not at-fault for this accident and have denied General Services Administration's claim (denial letter attached). In a circumstance such as this where the police report written does not cite either driver or place fault on either driver and where there are no witnesses, Liberty Mutual will defer to our insured's version of events. General Services Administration may continue to pursue this claim by challenging our denial through arbitration. If this happens, Liberty Mutual will continue to defend your policy and our denial of this claim. There is nothing that you need to do.

Should you have any questions regarding this claim you may email me.

Thanks,

Dear Representative Lance:

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter on behalf of your constituent, (b) (6) regarding his application to a job announcement from the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA).

(b) (6) applied to Job Announcement #1300006TC01-DHA, which is a Direct-Hire Public Notice that GSA is using Direct-Hire Authority for hiring in the 1102 job series and solicits applications for the seven metropolitan areas listed in the job announcement to fill current and future contracting positions at grades 9 through 15.
